CHATTANOOGA NEWS PUBLISHED BY THE CHATTANOOGA

Entered at the Chattanooga Postoffice a

If you have any trouble getting The News, telephone the Circulation De-partment and have it promptly reme-Branham Co., Brunswick building, New York; Mallers' building, Chicago: Chemical building, St. Louis.

Rates of Subscription—By carrier: One week 12c; one month, 55c. By mail six months, $2.15; twelve months, $4.00.

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to use for republication all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the 'ucal news published herein. All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

as observed, Von Hindenburg not revised his Paris dates.

John D. Rockefeller comes across with a modest income tax contribution Spanish cabinets have contracted the resignation habit. But King Also sticks to the job like a leech.

don pork and beans and adopt whale seat. But we still have our doubts. An exchange seems to have made the

It is reported that Boston will abantually in the war on the western front. Newspapers continue to make important discoveries. One of our exchanges announces that cornbread makes good believe it a good idea in a democracy to let congress and the people something about war manage-legislature of Texas is apparently sorry because there is only one prohibition amendment to

The four newly-elected congressmen their names attached to the public

An exchange laments that St. Patdek's day falls on Sunday this year. But what's the difference in a dry com-

Pacific coast oil situation reported perious, (Still congress hasn't time to consider and pass national waterpower legislation.

While looking for other valuables about the house, Germany and Austria will appropriate all Ukraine wheat that natural one.

Cotton consumption has not been quite so heavy this year as last. Reaa: There was less to use and the price was higher.

Japan's debt of $100,000,000 against Russia is one of the items under consideration in connection with the Siberian problem.

Another strike is reported as having been declared in Austria where tired feeling. The Russian assembly has ratified the peace with Germany, but it remains to be seen what effect this will have on the German advance. The peace which Russia is said to have accepted under duress, closely follows the lines of the one imposed

It seems that after all Uncle Sam upon France in 1871.

will have to institute condemnation proceedings against one or two land profiteers at Muscle Shoals. It is just like the Jacksonville Times.

Union to stick up for the south. It declares that New Jersey is a worse mosquite bed than Florida. Englishmen think they see an indication that Hindenburg has substituted London for Paris as the objective of that April visit. One of our exchanges thinks that the alleged fact that New York women voted more intelligently than the men was nothing much to brag about. R was hardly necessary for Von waged by Germans would be hor-We are getting wise to that The capture of Odessa was somewhat of a water haul for the Ger-

Ludendorff to remind us that the war mans according to reports. All stores of wheat had already been exhausted or removed. Irishmen are exempted from the provisions of the British conscription law, but Irishmen are not generally known as holding conscientious scruples against fighting.

It is reported that some of Unch Sam's aviators have been mistaken for hawks by the chickens in the neighborhood of Somerville, this state. They are said to scare the hens off their nests and reduce the output of eggs.

Another advantage has developed in the kaiser's favor. It has been discovered that he has a greater variety of to burn, but judging from the rumo princellings to offer in marriage to of them has proven acceptable.

AFTER THE WAR.

The following beautiful and commendable sentiment was culled from a column of gossip in the Memphis News-Scimitar:

"When this war shall have been won there are a lot of people who are going to have a hard time settling down to selfish, individual work. They will have become so well trained in patriotism and altruism that It will be difficult to ever replace the spirit of service with the spirit of selfishness. And the lessons we are learning, the sacrifices we are making, the sympathies we are cultivating and the thoughts we are beginning to have for our fellowman are among the things that are going to make this old world a different one and a better one to live in hereafter."

There's no denying the fact that the exigencies and developments of this great world war are broadening our sympathies and cultivating our meager concepts of our universal brotherhood. A common suffering induces a common bond of sympathy. While the world may not be welded into one great federation, the nations will arrive at a better understanding, and there will probably be less of nagging jealousy and petty irritation than has prevailed heretofore.

It is probable, however, that those who have developed the highest efficiency in altruistic and patriotic service will be the quickest to readjust themselves to the conditions of peace. They will find plenty to do in rebuilding the wrecked old world without absorbing "the spirit of selfishness." They startling discovery that Portugal is acwill work just as hard as ever at tasks of usefulness and in helping "to make this old world a different one and a better one to live in hereafter." It is to be hoped that this spirit of helpfulness and mutual good will shall prevail to such an extent that the profiteer will see the error of his way and that the disturber who would excite and embroil the people will be considered a public enemy; that there will be a more generous spirit of concillation and co-operation between those Flanders. who work with their hands and those who employ. In giving expression to ideals of this kind, it is recognized, of course, that most of us are innately, even unconsciously, selfish and that have already been sworn in and had realizations usually stop considerably short of anicipations, but it is good to feel that way once in a while anyway. But, while it may not be known at this time just what sort of conditions will prevail after the war, it does not require'a very wise man to realize that things will be different. The old order is passing. The world will not be the same—in a multitude of senses. America will be changed. That free and easy, slothful and self-satisfied manner will have taken its departure forever. We have projected ourselves into the world's whirlpool, and, while we hope eventually to disengage ourselves from it measurably, many of its con-order will bring with it. We shall want to familiarize ourselves with the new world map, the new world democracy, and, above all, we shall delight to tell our children of conditions "before the war" and compare them with the new devices and institutions for world progress.

THE CASE OF BELGIUM.

If there is one country-and there is engaged in the present war which has and is entitled to the united sympathy and admiration of the world, the war has given workingmen that outside of the Teutonic alliance, that country is Belgium. Serbia had s grievance against Austria, and France held a grudge against Germany, to which might be traced irritations leading even to war, but Belgium harmed nobody, was friendly with everybody and wanted only to be let alone. If there ever was a crime which cried to heaven, it was the savage butchery to which this unoffending country was subjected. If the cultivation of a spirit of revenge is ever justified, this suffering little country furnishes an occaston.

These remarks were suggested-provoked, rather-by an item which shows that the spirit of Belgium is not yet crushed-that there is still a defiant little Belgian army in the field. This is composed of some 50,000 men, which are kept recruited by young Belgians who slip through the almost impenetrable line which surrounds their coun try. It is being financed and equipped by a loan from the American government, repayment of which, it has been suggested, ought never to be required. This little army is proudly occupying a portion of the line and doing its bit to turn back the Hun avalanche.

Our sympathies go out to all the countries which have suffered from the barbarian overflow-to France and Serbia and heroic Montenegro-but we are especially mindful of Belgium. The brutal ravaging of Belgium can never be excused or palliated. Every German attempt in that direction has fallen flat to the ground. No marvel they say they do not mean to annex it, the while continuing to hold on and exploit it.

Once having consummated the bur densome legislation to make the clock tell a different story, perhaps our hard-working congress may get around to the water power bill some time the coming summer.

An exchange offers the perfectly raional suggestion that people eat more eggs and less of other things when eggs are plentiful, and less eggs and more of other things when eggs are scarce. Strange nobody had thought of it before.

Germany may not exactly have men that she is willing to sacrifice 200,000 Grand Duchess Adelaide of Luxemburg in an effort to break through the than he's the entente. But, so far, none British front, she still has a few to be slaughtered.

EVERYBODY MUST WORK.

In a brief survey, the Springfield Union declares that of the 35,000 persons taking civil service examinations in the past year, a larger percentage than ever before were men and women who did not seek appointment as a means of earning a living but as members of the well-to-do class were anxious to help in meeting the demand for workers to keep the war machine going.

This desire of what are sometimes termed "the idea rich" is entirely commendable. The great demand of the time is for service-service in filling imperative calls for necessary government and war work and in keeping up the production of the country. There is work for everybody and everybody ought to be at work. Doesn't signify so much where you work, just so you find a place to fit in. The war is making workers of all of us.

Already the unusual demand for government for clerks and trained help is creating a shortage of teachers for the schools of the country, and anxiety is manifest as to how the deficit is to be made up. But if everybody will work, we'll get through some way. There's no room however, in this time of crisis for the slacker whether subject to military service or not. We repeat, there is work for everybody and everybody ought to be at work.

Ludendorff is also inclined to admit God to partnership.

Every few days, some sapient newspaper makes the discovery that Mr. Bryan is still loyal.

Dogs enjoy no monopoly as useless food consumers, rats being credited with getting away with $2,000,000 worth annually.

The number of counties which are now leading in thrift stamp sales indicates that good work is being done.

The Nashville Banner has located the scene of the battle of Armageddon on the western front in France and Political developments about Nashville are causing a general sitting up and taking notice over the state.

The newspaper scribe is still doing his best to help the farmer about solving his labor problems. We are not informed in the dispatches as to whom the Tibetans are revolting against and what about, but tions. The revolt is the all-important It will help you to generate enthu-tion into the German lines and have held it against counter-attacks. Chilean newspapers don't like the

It is heartening to have Gen. Gorgas certify that health conditions about the military camps are improving. Gorgas knows just how to take hold of an unhealthy situation,-Joshua is said to have made the sun stand still until a victory was won over Israel's enemies, but the American congress modestly confines its mandates to the clock.

MANUFACTURERS TAKE ISSUE WITH GOVERNMENT

Governors Pass Resolution Opposing Plan of Collecting All War Taxes in June.

At a meeting Friday of the board of governors of the Chattanooga Manufactutrers' association that body showed opposition to the government's plan of collecting all war taxes in June, and favoring a plan which would permit of deferred payments, thus avoiding the withdrawal all in a tump of approximately $5,000,000,000 from the resources of the There has been a general movement ver the country to effect an avoidance of this lump payment. Manufacturers claim that owing to the great amount of money now required to carry on business they need a great deal than in normal times, and that upon the part of the banks they not only have to look after their customers but nust carry much of the burden of war financing, and they fear the effect upon the next liberty loan if the treasury department's present plan is adhered to. PUBLIC MUST STOP BREAKING

FLOWERS IN CITY PARKS

Shrubbery Wantonly Damaged, and Some Even Dig Up Plants and Carry Them Home.

Much complaint is being made and by Jackson, Warner and Boynton parks and who break off the flowers and otherwise mutilate the reserva-tions. A number of instances have been reported where foliage has been wantonly destroyed. "In some in-stances even shrubbery has been literally taken up by the roots and car-ried away," said Phil Shugart, super-intendent of parks. The raids have been mostly on tulip beds, while numbers of other flowers have been broken and carried away. An ordinance prohibiting the break-ing or marring of the foliage in the parks will be rigidly enforced, according to the park commissioner. The f selfish citizens are to mutilate and carry away their charm.

ITALIAN SHIPPING LOSSES ON DECREASE

Rome, Wednesday, March 13,-For ne week ending March 9, 430 mer chantmen entered and 391 left Italian ports, according to the official annuncement made today concerning thirding casualties. The Italians lost two steamers of nore than 1,500 tons each and one vescel under that tonnage. Two small salling vessels also were lost. steamer was attacked, but without reSTATE POLITICS

(By T. J. Campbell.) Writers on politics in Tennesse have to make heavy drafts on their imagination or materially reduce the amount of their output. This results, not so much from a lack of politics or candidates, as from the disposition among aspiring statesmen to await the announcements and movements of the other fellow. Hesitation about breaking new ground is manifested lest something be turned up out of which an adversary might make po-litical capital. As illustrating the dearth of news of political doings, the following is taken from the Nashville

Banner, which is published at the po-litical center of the state: "The senato, ial line-up in Tennes see is not yet complete. Gen. Charle T. Cates is really the only announce candidate, though it is certain Sens tor Shields' friends are actively at work for his re-election. Former Gov. Patterson has again disclaimed any intention of entering the contest Former Senator Frazier, naturally, would like to 'come back,' but has Former made no apparent signs of a purpose to attempt it. Gov. Rye is reticent and some of his closest political friends are unaware of his plans. Other than these, there are none dis-

But somebody on the Banner staff is dreaming dreams and seeing vi-sions. In making his rounds of the sions. In making his rounds of the capital, that scribe encountered the convenient, but mythical "Old Democrat" the other day and forthwith loaded up with a cargo of political camouflage. A tip from this fabled oracle informed him that "there are three candidates for the United States senate—Hon, John K. Shields and Hon. Charles T. Cates, of Knoxville, and Hon. Tom C. Rye, of Henry county." It is further stated that the second named is the only one of the trice. ond named is the only one of the trio that has seen fit to make public an-nouncement of his intentions and the platform back of his ambitions, and oncludes as follows:

"Mr. Shields has not yet deigned to counter the thrusts of his honorable competitor from his own bailiwick, and may not do so in the way Mr. Cates adopted in bringing his attack through the medium of the press.

"And in the meantime Gov. Rye is viewing the situation with the utmost complacency, but reserving to himself the privilege of speaking to the people at a later date when they shall be in more receptive mood to listen the appeals of the seeker after polit-ical aggrandizement."

Business along gubernatorial lines is beginning to pick up. A ention has been c lied, in this column, to the fact that while there are three candidates for governor-probably four-but one of them has taken the people into his confidence regarding his plans for running the state. And he didn't give many details. But we are assured by the same political quoted above that Judge A. H. Rob-erts is industriously at work upon and has about completed the draft of the platform on which he hopes to be chosen governor. An intimation is dropped that a great deal of care is being devoted to the ouster and selzrevolting against and what about, but these are apparently minor considerational amendments. Remedies for tions. The revolt is the all-important Tennessee's financial deficit are also said to be coming in for considerable attention.

In the meantime, this column notes with satisfaction that the trend of discussion in the circles of candidates siasm when you understand that Amerfor governor gravitates more and more toward the ideal so often urged here ican troops have advanced their posiand in the editorial columns of The News. The demand for business qualities in candidates for governor is ecciving more general recognition. people are respondn-In sight.

The desire of James and a portion of Many of us are impatient for the war to end, that we may grapple with Hamilton seems to be a perfectly with Hamilton seems to be a perfectly with Hamilton seems to be a perfectly with the problems which we know the new with Hamilton seems to be a perfectly with the problems with it. We shall want to end, that we may grapple with the problems which we know the new there will be any cause for hostilities.

Chilean newspapers don't like the call. A mass meeting of business men of Clarksville was held a few days ago to corner cafes to do it. We women ditions will remain with us.

Many of us are impatient for the war to end, that we may grapple with sides, however, it is not believed that the problems which we know the new there will be any cause for hostilities.

The people are responding to the following samples and a few days ago to corner cafes to do it. We women ditions will remain with us.

Many of us are impatient for the war to end, that we may grapple with the problems which we know the new there will be any cause for hostilities.

The people are responding to the following samples and a few days ago to take steps to urge upon other business men of the state the claim that the problems which we know the new there will be any cause for hostilities.

The people are responding to the following samples with the vote, and I'll say right now to take steps to urge upon other business men of the state the claim that the vote there will be less political talked in such places cultarly fitted to make Tennesses and a portion of the vote, and I'll say right now that since we have the vote there will be less political talked in such places that the vote, and I'll say right now to take steps to urge upon other business men of the state the claim that the vote, and I'll say right now that since we have the vote there will be less political talked in such places.

The people are responding to the state the claim that the vote, and I'll say right now to take steps to urge upon business governor. As a further evi-dence of the extent to which the "business" idea is taking possession of the popular mind, a meeting of business men was called and held at Nashville which concluded its deliberations by a formal draft upo: Mr. John E. Edgerton, of Lebanon, to become the business men's candidate for governor. The word has gone out, therefore that those who may want to serve as govrnor or legislator must keep their ousiness qualifications on straight. It is a good sign. This scribe has before him the announcement of Hon. Walter Cam-eron, of Marion county, as candi-date for the state senate. It con-tains some matters of interest. Mr. Cameron was a member of the last legislature and devotes some space to recounting his service there, a sub-ject in which this column is not, for the moment, concerned. However, his declaration that he had passed and would pass no bills to create boaded without the consent of the governed is commendable. He says exhas shown that "bond is sues" do not necessarily mean good roads. Curiosity is aroused by the roads. Curiosity is aroused by the following statement which, we think, should be elaborated: "I passed a road bill for Marion county that, in my judgment, will give us good high-ways and one that places the building and maintaining of same upon the in-dividuals who use them. At the end of ten years we will have good reads and they will be paid for." The provisions of this bill should become genknown. A bill which will construct and pay for a good system of roads in ten years is worthy of wide publicity and study.

On the all-absorbing financial sit-uation, however, Mr. Cameron is vague and indefinite, merely promisstate appears and as though it were my own personal business." Again, his treatment of the prohibition amendment is disappointing. He wants to refer this and the affrage mendment, which has not yet passed congress, to a vote of the people, as if that same end could not be ac-complished by taking a stand for or against ratification, and allowing his election or defeat to 1 * concidered an expression from the people, Mr. Cam-eron will probably of find many leg-islative candidates fraid to come out squarely for the ratification of the

Humane Society Offers Prizes for Best Essays

The humane society announces the folowing list of prizes to be awarded in its umane essay or "Be Kind to Animals" ontest, under rules previously sent to surgeon of the United States all city and suburban schools:

City Schools.

T. R. Preston offers $5 to winner in froup 1. which includes first, second and third grattes in competition.

Mile Carla Dagmar, of Paris, France, ffers $5 to winner in Group 2, which Edward Davidson offers $5 to winner Group 3, which includes seventh and ighth grades in competition. Burke offers $5 for best paper rom the Junior High school cludes fourth, fifth and sixth grades the colored schools Mrs. Frances pasteurizing plants." Fort Brown offers the following: For the best paper from Howard High school $5: for the best paper from Elev enth Street school, $2; for the best paper from East Fifth Street school, $1; for the best paper from Main Street school, $1;

JUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE + By Condo

THE JARR FAMILY

By Roy L. McCardell

"Oh, goura! goura!" moaned Mr. Jarr.

be copied extensively and become too.

"Yet if you have a hat that is entirely ridge-Smith had a black horsehair lace hat, Henri Quatre effect, that she was

"What did she want to lose him for?"

husbands in private, but they will never thing of a friend of mine? Now you

"It was one of those man milliners

"It may have been the hat or it may trying to sketch the imported hat, wasn't have been her new gown, which was also imported," replied Mrs. Jarr, "For, thank heaven, the Germans did not nor never will capture Paris. And so long as Paris is Paris we will get styles."

"I hear that Clara has changed her

"The new peplum blouses define the

Mr. Jarr groaned again and, arising retreated in disorder from the listening

From what I can see they are

figure," remarked Mrs. Rangle,

"But the new sleeveless better than that" it?" asked Mrs. Rangle.

bear testimony against a woman friend maladies that have proved in the presence of female witnesses.

overblous

"A detective!" snapped Mrs. Jarr, in- Like all progressive health regulations,

"How can you say such a it may seem a little drastic, but the her friend's husband's moan.

(Copyright, 1918, by the Press Publishing Co. The New York Evening World.) Mr. Jarr roused up from his comfort- | Rangle, enthusiastically. "I'm going to have one made for my little girl"—
"Oh, that's one of the new bolero ible position on the sofa in alarm. "Hey!" he cried, "if you worthy matrons are go-ing to talk spring fashions, I'm going to > as this military effect, with the aviation "Oh, you say too retorted hat to match, do you?" asked Mrs. Mrs. Jarr. "What Rangle. do you wish us to "The three-piece suits are darlings!" cuss war? It's cried Mrs. Jarr. "Especially that Lanvin bad enough to model. And it's so practical, too! As a know it's going on suit, the costume will do for the street without having to talk about it you don't the time, and I think I am a paci-"Perhaps Mr. Jarr would like us to discuss politics?" remarked Mrs. Rangle, who had dropped in with a fashion paper. "And if we do," added Mrs. Jarr, "we have as much right to discuss politics as the men have—and we don't need to go to corner cafes to do it. We women a man followed her for blocks, till she "That's right!" grumbled Mr. Jarr. 'Find out where men are comfortable lost him in darting into a crowded and drive them out of such places." And he made a move as though to leave the asked Mr. Jarr. "Doesn't that dame wear freak styles to attract attention?"

"You can stay where you are; you needn't think we are going to disturb you," remarked Mrs. Jarr. "Mrs. Rangle just brought over that fashion paper show me a school dress that can be made inexpensively for our little Emma." "Yes, the cutest patterns!" said Mrs.

for best paper from Avenue school, $1. For the best paper from any city school, all grades in competition, Mrs. Richard Hardy offers a hand-colored copy of Bouveret's picture, "At the Watering Trough," this picture to remain the Trough,' property of the school, the name of the pupil winning it to be inscribed thereon County Schools.

Judge Will Cummings offers $5 to win ner in Group 1, which includes first, sec-ond and third grades in competition. C. M. Preston offers $5 to winner to Group 2, which includes fourth, fifth and grades in competition. W. P. McBroom offers $5 to winner t Group 3, which includes seventh and the new blouses the waist is more deeighth grades in competition. To the colored schools Mrs. J. B. Prostill slipping down, although some say basco pers the following prizes: For the best paper from Lincoln High chool, $2; for the best paper from walst more," said Mrs. Jarr. North Chattanooga school. $1; for the est paper from St. Elmo school, $1; for doesn't, do you think?" Mrs. Rangle inthe best paper from East Chattanooga

The humane society offers $1 for the best paper from Orchard Knob school. For the best paper from any county school, all grades in competition, Mrs. John A. Patten offers the "John A. Patten" prige of $5.

every school not receiving a money prize Mrs. Richard Hardy offers a prize

Ronorary certificates from the National Humane association will be awarded all papers marked second and third winners All papers must be marked with the and age of the pupil, the school and the grade, and are to be delivered to the humane society office, courthouse, the first week in April.

ICE CREAM CONCERNS FAIL TO OBEY RULES Three of the smaller concerns of Chattanooga manufacturing ice cream have failed to comply with the ordinance which was recently made effective regarding the sale of ice cream. The ordinance requires that all ice cream sold in this city must be pas teurized. Upon finding that three of the manufacturers were failing to do this, C. P. Knight, passed assistant health service, has taken the matter up and written the following co tion to those who have falled to comply with the city ordinance:

It has been called to the attention of this office that you are not conorming to the city ordinance relative to the manufacture of ice cream. There is enclosed a copy of this ordinance, which you will please read carefully. "If you intend to continue the nunufacture of ice cream, this ordinance must be obeyed. Any advice which you care to have will be given by an assistant of this office on the proper

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

COMMENDS SPLENDID SPIRIT OF CO-OPERATION

Secretary of State Board of Health Confers With Local Health Authorities.

Dr. R. Q. Lillard, the secretary and executive officer of the Tennessee state board of health, has arrived in the city for the purpose of conferring with the city, county and United States public health service officials. Dr. Lillard's visit to Chattanooga is in the interest of sanitary matters inci-dent to the extra cantonment zone. He attended a conference Friday with members of the Florence Crittenton rescue mission. Those present were Mesdames Joe Brown, J. R. Huff, W. E. Brock and others. Dr. Lillard said he found the members of the association very much interested in the re-cent state ruling passed with reference to venereal discases.

The state health officer said the was very much pleased to find that the women have succeeded in raising sufficient funds to care for the unfortunate ones within the requirements of the law. Dr. Liliard said he nderstood that the city and county officials are very much interested in the work now under way.

When Dr. Lillard was asked what he thought of the present health condi-tions he said: "One of the greatest problems that has confronted both civil and military authorities is the proper sanitation of the extra cantonment zones."

Spirit of Co-operation.

He said that Chattanooga, through its health department, has demon-strated a spirit of co-operation in this important matter that shows the public spiritedness of all citizens in all maters that are vital and essential to the health of its inhabitants.

Immediately after the beginning of war, Dr. Lillard said that serious problems of sanitation arose, especially after the establishment of the present extra cantonment zone known as "the Chattanooga health zone," the menace to health being mutual between the civil population and the troops sta-tioned at Camp Forrest, "After this." said Dr. Lillard, "means of meeting the new conditions were devised by the state, county, municipal and the United States public health authorities that have been productive of inestimable benefit to Chattanooga, and they have accepted the situation as a patrioic duty."

-Dr. Lillard said that one of the thy matrons are goshions, I'm going to beat a retreat from this listening position. I say it!"

"You have one of the new bolero suits, isn't it?" asked Mrs. Jarr, catching sight of the pictured resemblance of position. I say it!"

"You have been the law giving the various position. I say it!" "Yes, but I don't think it is as smart men from insanitary places in the extra cantonment zone that is under the joint control of the city board of health and C. P. Knight, passed assistant surgeon of the United States public health service.

Salutary Effect.

He further said that an armed senand when you take off the coat it can be worn indoors at any afternoon function. The hat to go with it is of lisere straw, very high in the crown and narther said that all armed sentinel in front of an eating establishment or hotel has a most salutary effect upon a grasping proprietor, and that such a demonstration quickly now as to brim, with flaring wings of row as to brim, with flaring wings of brings the proprietor to his senses and all insanitary conditions are generally meet the requirements of remedied to

"But don't you think that model will the public health. "All problems are being daily solved on?" asked Mrs. Rangle, ignoring and satisfactorily adjusted by the splendid spirit of co-operation seen upon all sides," says Dr. Lillard.

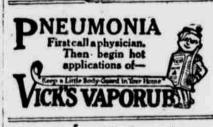

Improvement of Health Conditions. out of the common, you may look like a freak," replied Mrs. Jarr. "Clara Mud-"The solution of the health problem has benefited citizens and soldiers alike, and with the efficient and painsassured was the only model imported. And when she were it out of the shop carried out by variou ities under whose control they have been placed, I would not be surprised to see the morbidity and mortality rate of Chattanooga lower than any "Doesn't that dame city in Tennessee in twelve months to attract attention?" declared Dr. Lillard in refer-"It wasn't an admirer, if you please, ring to the health outlook for this city. Clara said." remarked Mrs. Jarr. "He said: "At the instance of Gov. Rye; after an interpretation of the law "Ho, ho!" cried Mr. Jarr. "A private detective, what? Is her old man getting governing contagious diseases by Attyby the state board of health, placing Both ladies regarded him with scorn. venercal diseases on the same basis as for ladies may speak their suspicions to other contagious diseases, which will greatly reduce the ravages of these menace to the fighting and civil forces.

benefits to both civilian and military population admits of no argument."

Dr. J. E. Strecker Chronic and Special Diseases

Venous Treatments

Skin, Cancer, Tumors No. 8 W. Eighth St., at Market Tennesse are rapidly taking the places of men.

WOMEN

The PROVIDENT LIFE and ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO.

recognizes this and is granting HEALTH, ACCIDENT and LIFE INSURANCE to Business and Professional Women with the same benefits and premium as to men. This is an innovation in Insurance.

ASK ABOUT OUR IDEAL POLICY.

A. H. Cate, District Manager, Accident and Health Department.

Main 6713.

· Earl N. Wester. Manager Home Office District, Life Department, Mait. 6715.